

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Friday, August 1

1997

Crew of STS-94 to Visit Marshall

The crew of STS-94, the Marshall-managed Microgravity Science Laboratory mission, will visit Marshall Tuesday, Aug. 5. Crew members are Commander James Halsell, Pilot Susan Still, Payload Commander Dr. Janice Voss, Mission Specialists Dr. Michael Gernhardt and Dr. Donald Thomas, and Payload Specialists Dr. Roger Crouch and Dr. Gregory Linteris. They will present a program in Morris Auditorium at 1 p.m. on the recently completed mission. Tickets are available through administrative officers. Those who wish to attend should arrive by 12:45 p.m.

Proposals for Center Director's Discretionary Fund Due Mon.

MARS Golf Club Tournament Tees Off at 7:30 a.m. Sat. at Point Mallard Park in Decatur

Technology Transfer Sponsors Personal Development Course

Winning Strategies, a course on personal strategies for success, will be held 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Tom Bevill Center at UAH. The sessions, sponsored by the Technology Transfer Office, are open to all Marshall employees. Topics include reinventing government, the national performance review and how employees may be affected by changing conditions. Contact: Rosa Kilpatrick, 4-0042, or Renee Higgins, 4-8864.